

Leave a lasting legacy

Langley Christian School celebrates individuals who have included the school in their estate plans. These contributions, committed today, are earmarked to support tuition assistance and innovative learning initiatives and projects. They also help secure the future of the school as well as fulfil a donor's wish to make a lasting impact.

If you wish to ensure your passion and values will continue to live on and inspire future generations to come, explore the giving options below and to learn more.

Charitable Bequests

You can donate to the Langley Christian School through a charitable bequest –naming the Langley Christian School in your will. You can leave your gift unrestricted or choose how it is designated. Perhaps you'd like your gift to be used for one specific purpose or to create an endowment. A bequest can include everything from a gift of cash, publicly listed securities, a portion of your residual estate, real estate, art, or even vehicles. By naming the Langley Christian School to receive a gift in your will, your estate will generate tax credits that may offset any taxes payable by your estate.

Gifts of registered retirement assets

For many people, registered retirement plans (RRSPs, RRIFs) and company-sponsored pension plans may be their single biggest assets beyond their homes. Upon death these funds, if registered, become taxable income in the year of death often meaning a tax of almost 50% of balance in the fund. By naming the Langley Christian School as beneficiary of your funds, your estate will receive a tax receipt for the entire amount of the gift. Your gift not only is a legacy demonstrating your values and what is important to you but also greatly reduces taxes payable by your estate.
